Wolfgang Babeck is an Australian/German solicitor and company director. He is a partner at German law firm Buse Heberer Fromm, and is also admitted in England & Wales and in New South Wales, practicing with Hall & Wilcox in Sydney.

Wolfgang maintains an active portfolio of directorships, acting as resident and non-executive director for an average of ten Australian subsidiaries across a number of industries including biotechnology, IT, manufacturing, renewable energy and education.

Wolfgang's first-hand experience as chairman of supervisory and management boards in European jurisdictions, and as director of many subsidiary companies in Australia is unique and allows him to easily compare different governance systems.

Wolfgang has been a faculty member of the Australian Institute of Company Directors since 2017. He lectures at Bond University, moderates constitutional conferences and changes, speaks a number of European languages and has authored several law books.
